Mykonos is an eclectic place - pristine beaches, elegant boutiques, fine dining, and rowdy bars are all packed onto one tiny piece of land, a mere 15km long at its widest point. Partying is a round-the-clock affair here, against a scenic backdrop of whitewashed houses and Little Venice, Mykonos Town’s most charming neighbourhood.

THE ISLAND

The tiny Cycladic island of Mykonos sprung to blossom as a tourist destination in the 60s and 70s, when it was first discovered by global glitterati and became featured in magazines as the new hot place to be for the "it" crowd. The island today has kept little of its past exclusivity (although celebrities do make appearances at some of its fashion boutiques every now and then), and welcomes diverse crowds every summer season. July and August are the busiest, with late spring and early fall allowing visitors to discover a quieter, more tranquil side to the island.

During high season, avoid the narrow streets of Mykonos Town (also referred to as "Hora", or "Chora") during daytime to escape cruise ship crowds and venture out to one of the island's many beaches, or try scuba diving under careful supervision of professionals from the island's many dive centres.

The island, along with its tiny neighbour of Delos, featured prominently in Greek mythology and was first settled in 11th century BC. Excursions into the past may be made via the island's several tiny museums and the well-maintained Archaeological Site of Delos.

DO & SEE

The entire island of Mykonos is only 15km at its widest point - a small but intimate place, where it's possible to see everything in a relatively short time period.

Start off by strolling through Little Venice, the waterfront bar and restaurant strip of Mykonos Town, and make your way up into the maze of narrow streets dotted with shops and eateries. Take a photo against the backdrop of the island's iconic windmills, and make the most of its many splendid beaches.

Little Venice

This scenic neighbourhood is a delight both day and night: stroll along the waterfront and get a feel for the town while taking in the distinct local architecture, sit down for a seafood lunch or dinner with a view (over the blue waters and iconic hilltop windmills), or explore the bar scene after sundown.

Beaches
If beach parties are what you're after, Mykonos will not disappoint. Check out the famous Paradise Beach and/or Super Paradise Beach for some of the hottest waterside bars and clubs that never sleep (dancing is often in full swing in broad daylight!). For a more relaxed, quieter experience head to Elia, Platis Gialos, Ornos, Panormos, Paranga or Agios Sostis Beaches – the latter is a true hidden gem tucked away far from the frenzied crowd in the island's north.

Address: Paradise Beach, Mykonos

The Windmills
The island's iconic landmark is its collection of whitewashed round windmills (or Kato Milli), which make for some incredible postcard-ready photographs.

Address: Alefkadras, Mykonos Town
More Info: Between Alefkandara and Neochori

Archaeological Site of Delos
A UNESCO World Heritage Site, the island of Delos is a must-visit for history and archaeology enthusiasts. The site holds some curios remains of ancient civilisations: a former amphitheatre, historic houses with mosaics, temples and the famous Terrace of the Lions. Don't skip the museum - it contains some artefacts dating as far back as the 25th century BC.

Panayia Paraportiani
The name of this 5-joint church, located in the Kastro neighbourhood, translates to "Our Lady of the Side Gate" (the church is located next to the Castle door). The whitewashed church was completed in the 17th century and is now considered one of the island's icons and a must-visit spot.

The sheer number of eateries for an island as small as Mykonos is dazzling, with the majority of restaurants and tavernas concentrated in Mykonos Town and along the waterfront of Little Venice. Mykonian cuisine is defined by its pork and fried fish dishes (red mullet and skate are most common), octopus meze (small tapas-style plates), and the use of goat milk and onions in cooking. The Greek classics (such as moussaka, for example) are readily available on most menus.

M-eating

Tucked away in the windy maze of the town’s streets is M-eating, an upscale dining establishment that serves top-notch Mediterranean cuisine. It’s hard to go wrong with your order at this award-winning restaurant, but opt for sea bass or veal and you will surely not be disappointed.

Sakis Grill House

On an island where food tends to get a bit pricey, Sakis is a true hidden gem for travelers on a budget. The place serves Greek fast food (pita, gyros, salads, fries and, of course, souvlaki) and is one recommended by locals who are frequent customers.

To Maereio

This Mykonian restaurant isn’t much for vegetarians: the majority of dishes served are hearty and meat-based, guaranteed to satiate the wildest of hungers. Expect a short wait to be seated – a small price to pay for the cosy atmosphere of this restaurant with a homely feel.

Captain’s

A unique find in the busy Mykonos harbour area, Captain’s skimps on neither food quality nor attentive service. Enjoy a selection of ‘meze’ (small Greek tapas-style dishes) to share, or go for one of the many menu items. Seafood, meat and vegetarian dishes are served.

Alegro

The waterside location in the harbour and extensive menu are just some of Alegro’s highlights – enjoy a restaurant-quality meal, small snack or simply opt for a coffee and dessert (baklava seems to be stealing the show here) at this Greek tavern with a view.

Kazarma

Kazarma features authentic Greek cuisine made with fresh local ingredients. Whether you go for breakfast, a hearty lunch or dinner at this completely renovated restaurant, you will enjoy not only the high quality of food but also the outstanding waterfront view. Meat and fish courses are some of the most sought-after in this magnificent diner.

Nikos Taverna

The Nikos Taverna attracts at first sight with its outdoor patio. What draws even more visitors in is its simple but delightful Greek food. Dolma (grape leaves filled with rice), grilled calamari or moussaka (eggplant or potato-based dish), paired with a good glass of wine, are all but guaranteed to hit the spot on a warm summer’s day.

Pepper Souvlaki & More

Located in the heart of the town, this restaurant features traditional Greek food characterised by fresh, local products. As the name suggests, it is particularly known for the souvlaki (grilled meat wrapped in a fresh pita with vegetables). What is widely known as uncomplicated Greek fast food is taken a level higher here.
Funky Kitchen, run by a British expat, harmoniously combines Greek cuisine with Mediterranean, giving traditional dishes a new identity. Braised salmon with honey soy and chicken breast with mushrooms and sun dried tomatoes are just some of the mains you will find on the menu. As for desserts, highly recommended are the ‘Chocolate Nirvana’ and the Mexican key lime tart, a true delight for the palate.

CAFÉS

Cafés dot the island, their numbers peaking in the old town area and along the beach front. Greek souvlaki enjoys special popularity among visitors looking to grab a quick bite with an authentic flair, and so do the sweet and savoury pancakes. For dessert, do not miss a local almond-based treat called ‘amygdalota’: a bell-shaped cookie with a soft core that is crunchy on the outside.

If a quick bite is what you're after, head to Yummy Mykonos and choose from multiple varieties of sweet and savoury crepes and waffles. Drinks served include coffee and fresh-squeezed orange juice. Free WiFi for guests comes as a pleasant bonus.

Yummy Café

Known for its two very hospitable owners, the Il forno di Gerasimo is a perfect spot to unwind and enjoy the café's one-of-kind decor, carefully crafted by the hosts. Desserts, sweet crepes and ice creams are probably the most popular (but far not the only) items on the menu.

Il forno di Gerasimo

Italian sandwiches and custom-made salads – all prepared with fresh local ingredients – are served at this little eatery. A plus of this diner are their vegetarian and vegan sandwiches; try the Greek vegan sandwich paired with a local beer.

Popolo

El Burro, which opened its doors to local and foreign clientele just two years ago, has already gained a reputation for having the best coffee on the island. Espresso is major here.

El Burro

Sandwiches and crêpes are taken very seriously in this venue located just a few minutes' walk from the harbour. Customise your own crêpe or choose from new flavours on the menu, like the lemon pie crêpe, for example.

The Taste Diaries
Trio Bambini

This small café distinguishes itself from Mykonian siblings with its house-made Greek frozen yogurt, crêpes and waffles. Their masterpiece is definitely the ice-cream: made daily on-site, with more than 100 flavours to choose from.

BARS & NIGHTLIFE

The party never dies in Mykonos, where day-time beach entertainment often precedes the "classic" nightclubbing experience. Some of the loudest, rowdiest beach venues are to be found at Psarrou Beach (popular with Greeks), and the Paradise/Super Paradise Beaches. In Mykonos Town, pre-sunset pastimes are much more tame, with relaxing waterfront bars of Little Venice getting packed with patrons savouring slightly overpriced cocktails in the evenings. At night, the island's many clubs open their doors to those still ready to paint the town red.

Little Venice

This scenic neighbourhood is a delight both day and night - stroll along the waterfront and get a feel for the town while taking in the distinct local architecture, sit down for a seafood lunch or dinner with a view (over the blue waters and iconic hilltop windmills) or

Scarpa Bar

Cocktails at Scarpa might tend to get a bit pricey, but the unbeatable combination of quality and setting make this compact bar in the heart of Mykonos’ Little Venice an offer worth every cent. Sit outside by the water and enjoy the sunset from what is possibly the best cocktail bar on the strip.

SHOPPING

Shopping in Mykonos is (perhaps, a bit surprisingly) a high-end affair, with multiple upscale boutiques selling all manner of items from brand-name clothing to jewellery to Swarovsky-encrusted shoes dotting the historic town. Art-lovers will surely enjoy the galleries and design stores displaying (and often selling) works by Greek artists. Local crafts to shop for include hand-woven items such as rugs, scarves and tablecloths. Not to be missed are Mykonian treats (almond cookies), organic produce and natural cosmetics.

Matoyianni Street

Stroll through Matoyianni Street and venture out onto one of its many narrow side-lanes to explore just how much beauty is hidden in Mykonos Town's labyrinth of brilliant white-colored houses. Mykonos Island National Airport

Mykonos has its own airport, direct flights are available from multiple European destinations. To travel the 4km to town, use one of the taxis right outside the airport terminal, or a pre-arranged transfer (some hotels pick up guests directly at the airport). Bus service to the city (southern bus station) is also available, but is infrequent and runs on no definitive schedule.

Passport/Visa

Greece can be visited visa-free for up to 90 days by citizens of most European countries, Australia, New Zealand, Japan, South Korea, Taiwan, Malaysia, Israel, UAE and most countries in America. If you are unsure whether or not you need to apply for a visa, we recommend contacting the embassy or consulate in your country. International (non-Schengen) travelers need a passport that is valid for at least 3 months after the end of their intended trip in order to enter the Schengen zone. Citizens of Schengen countries can travel without a passport, but must have a valid ID with them during their stay.

Best Time to Visit

The best time to visit Mykonos is in September and October. During these two months the weather is still warm and water temperature is still perfect for swimming. July and August are known as the peak season, when every corner of the island is permeated with vacationers, so if you are looking for a tranquil vacation it’s best to avoid these two months.

Ferry

Most ferries run between the months of April and October. Direct connections to Mykonos via high speed ferries and boats are available from Piraeus and Rafina (check in advance whether your ferry arrives at the old or new port, this may vary by company). Ferries also run to and from other nearby islands in the Cyclades.

Public Transport

There are two bus stations at the opposite ends of Mykonos Town (these are a 20 minute walk away from one another). Use the main station (Fabrica) to catch a bus to Paraga, Platys Gialos, Paradise, Agios Ioannis and Ornos. The northern station serves Elia, Ano Mera, Panormos and Kalafatis. Bus frequencies may very depending on the time of year (more buses run during high season); intervals are usually somewhere between 30 min and an hour. Tickets may be purchased from the driver directly or in advance at ticket machines and tourist shops.

Small fishing boats are an alternative means of transport - these circulate between the main beaches of the island.

Taxi

Taxis in Mykonos are in high demand, and getting one in high season might require some patience. Taxis can be hired in Manto Square (also referred to as the Taxi Square). There are usually fixed prices displayed inside the cabs for main destinations around the island, meters are normally not used. Ordering a taxi often comes at an extra charge.
